BACKGROUND

18th March 1850

The University of Defence has a long tradition that dates back to 18th March 1850, when Prince Aleksandar Karađorđević approved the establishment of the first military higher education institution in Serbia – Artillery school.

After the international recognition of the Principality of Serbia as an independent and sovereign state, in 1880, the National Assembly adopted the Law on the Organization of the Military Academy. Since then, the Military Academy has been working continuously through continuous organizational and structural changes, with the exception of interruptions during the Balkan wars and the First and Second World War.

The University of Defence was founded on February 24, 2011, and got its final structure through organizational and formation changes in October 2017.
